Solution

This error message indicates that you are attempting to update ESET Remote Administrator with a license that was issued for a different product. For example, most users receive this error message when attempting to use an ESET Mail Security for Microsoft Exchange license with ESET Remote Administrator. To resolve your issue, please follow the steps below:

1. Locate your nod32.zip file for ESET Remote Administrator. When you purchased your ESET security product, you received an email from ESET containing this file as an attachment.

NOTE:

If you are unable to locate your license file, click the link below to recover it:
